Dear Sisters Schools Community,

First, thank you to our families and our community for their grace, understanding, feedback, and support as we work through this crisis. The dialogue and engagement at the building and district level is helping us provide the best possible service under these conditions.

We are ending staff appreciation week. And, to our staff I would like to reiterate, I am amazed and comforted everyday as I touch base with you or hear stories from our families of the efforts that are being made around Distance Learning. Thank you to our staff for their work, as a parent and the superintendent, I appreciate your efforts.

I must keep stating, if your child, or you, are struggling with Distance Learning, do not worry, and just do your best. Always remember to take care of yourself.

I would encourage our students and families to stay active, as it is as important as ever during this crisis to stay healthy. Give yourself permission to take a break and go for a walk, a run, a workout of some sort. Exercise is not only good for our physical health, it is great for our mental health as well. You will find that a good workout will clear your head, alleviate stress, and helps you refocus on the task you were struggling with before the workout. You will just generally feel better.

As a school district, we understand that our partnerships with our families and community is critical. We will continue to put our students first and work to support them through this crisis and beyond. Together, we will get through this and be a stronger community when it is over.

Stay safe,

Curt Scholl
